

Utility Crews Work Throughout Storm

Service crews of the public utilities in the Dickinson-League City area did an outstanding job of maintaining service in the area during hurricane Carla.

Crews of Community Public Service Company were out continuously during the worst of the storm.

"Particular attention was given to the maintenance of power to the Red Cross Evacuation Shelters set up at the Dickinson Junior and Senior High School, Dunbar School and Clear Creek High School," Charles O. Mills, local manager for the power company said Wednesday.

"Except for about three hours Sunday night and about the same time early Tuesday morning when service for the entire area was out, power was maintained to the evacuation centers," Mr. Mills said.
