

SCIENCE STUDENTS in the seventh grade at Dickinson Junior High School gather around for an unbelievable demonstration by science teacher Upton Lackey. Being weighed on the delicate balance scale is the amount of lead used for a student to sign his name.