

IF WINTER COMES, CAN SPRING BE FAR BEHIND? We can't answer that question, but we do know that these Dickinson Primary pupils had a whale of a good time playing in the snow. Teachers availed themselves of the opportunity to teach a science lesson on the weather.
