The GATOR 1967

Dickinson High School

Dickinson, Texas

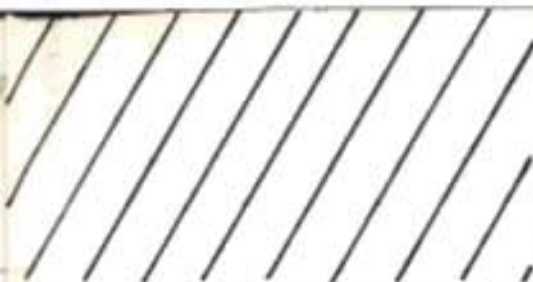

Foreword . . .

The happiest years are the young years—when one day but follows another and when time itself has no end.

These are the years that have awakened every emotion and captured them in the short span of youth.

These are the years that have brought us memories. These are the years that have filled our lives with the trivial, the seemingly unimportant. The football games, the dances, and finally graduation have worked together to give us a year to remember.

These are the years that we have lived. We have made them what they are, and they are ours forever . . .

WE REMEMBER MR. R. D. MC ADAMS

"That best portion of a good man's life—his little, nameless, unremembered acts of kindness and love."

William Wordsworth

. . . And he was a good man . . . Those who knew him well, loved him; those who did not, admired him. Perhaps unknowingly, he has added something to all of us. Whether it be just one kindly thought, one aspiration, or one bit of determination, it is something we, as students, can carry with us as we go out to meet the world. His unmatched devotion and dedication have not gone unappreciated.

. . . in memoriam

For his contemplative narrations which begin almost every class—
For his special effort to do for each the same—
For his capacity to honor
simplicity—
For his cultivation of talent—
For his guidance and inspiration—
For his perception of the true
worth of character—

We thank Mr. Herschel Riley ...

To the Students of 1966-67

In this "World of Cold Wars and Insecurity," my sincere hope is that we, the faculty and administration of Dickinson High School, have been able to instill in each of you a respect for the rights of others, a belief in Americanism, and a faith in God.

May the knowledge and interest you developed here stay with you in good stead the rest of your lives.

To the annual staff, our sincere thanks for making the 1966-67 GATOR one we will be proud of.

I should like to extend my sincere "Thank you," to the students and teachers for making the school year, 1966-67, one of the most successful years DHS has had. A lot of hard work has gone into this year and in the midst of the work we have managed to have a lot of fun. I know that this yearbook will be a pictorial record of those classmates and activities that will be treasured for the many years ahead.

My best wishes to the Seniors who are leaving us this year. May you find happiness and success in all your endeavors. And to you students who will be Gators in 1967-68, may I remind you that these Seniors, and Seniors past, have left you a rich heritage and some big footsteps to fill. Your parents, your teachers, and your community have faith in you that you can enrich that heritage, fill those steps, and carry on the pride and traditions of Dickinson High School.
