THAT WAS RANDOM

Walking through the crowded halls of Dickinson, you hear and see really random things. Here's a collection of what we were able to capture.

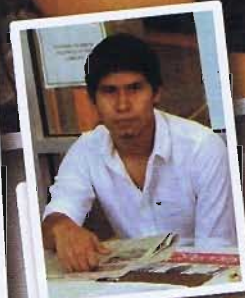

Butler
COWBOY

"I want money! That's what I want!"

"I'll sell my kidneys!"

"Who did you cheat off?"

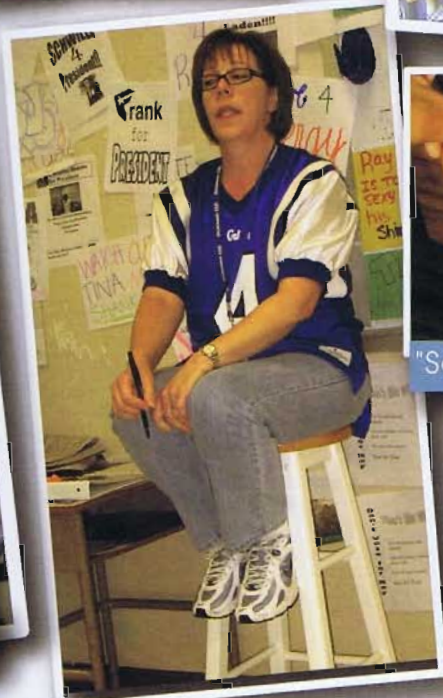

"I wish we had a pool at this school!"

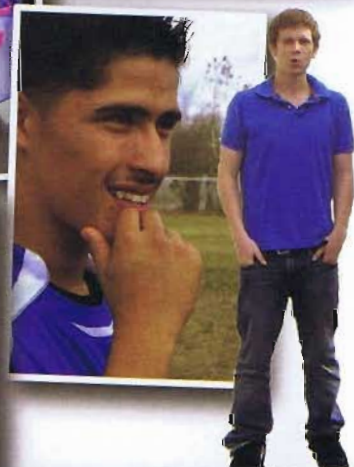

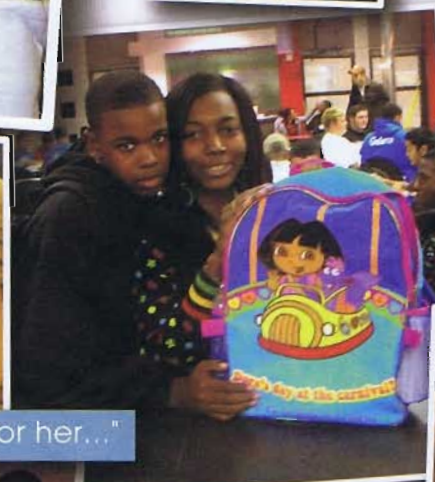

"Yeah...you are really obsessed with yourself."

"When you see Chris tell him to go to the field house after school..."

"Sometimes I feel bad for her..."

"The thing I remember the most about nerd day is being able to look awesome in my attire. It was a lot of fun and interesting to see how other people dressed."

-Chris Kuyper

Feeling the Gator SPIRIT

Every Friday during football season there's a sense of spirit that fills the halls at DHS. Students show their individual styles and originality when displaying their school pride through an array of unique outfits. The spirit day themes, organized by our own Gator cheerleaders, inspire students to bring out their inner nerd, dress as twins, "dress up", western attire, animal print, blue and white all over, polka dots, camo, Hawaiian clothes, and even take a trip back in time with 80's wear.

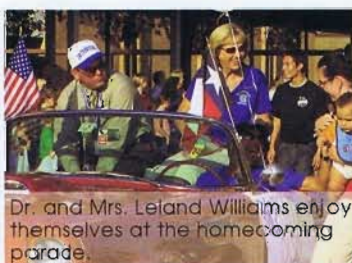

After school, when the game starts, students aren't the only ones with school spirit. Enthusiastic parents and fans give the team a boost of energy and inspire them to press onward toward victory. We make sure that our visitors are confronted with... good ol' Gator Pride!

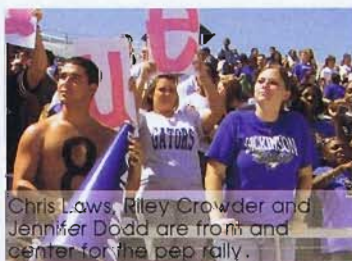

Tara Ochoa and AJ Meeks show school spirit by participating on senior dress up day.

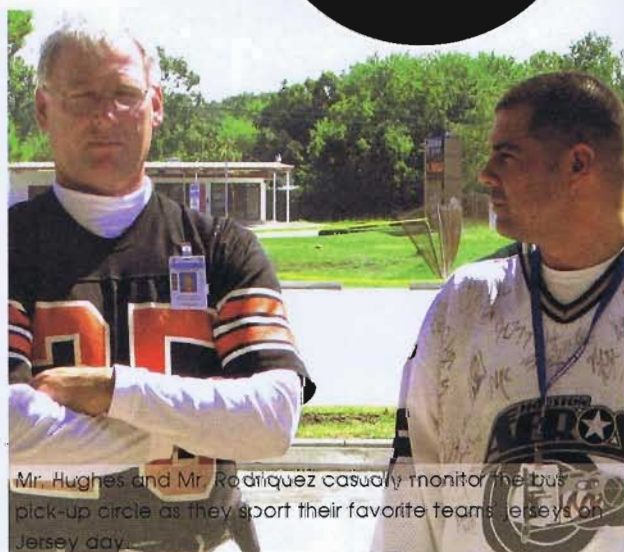

Big Al does the fight song cheer with pride during the annual homecoming pep rally.

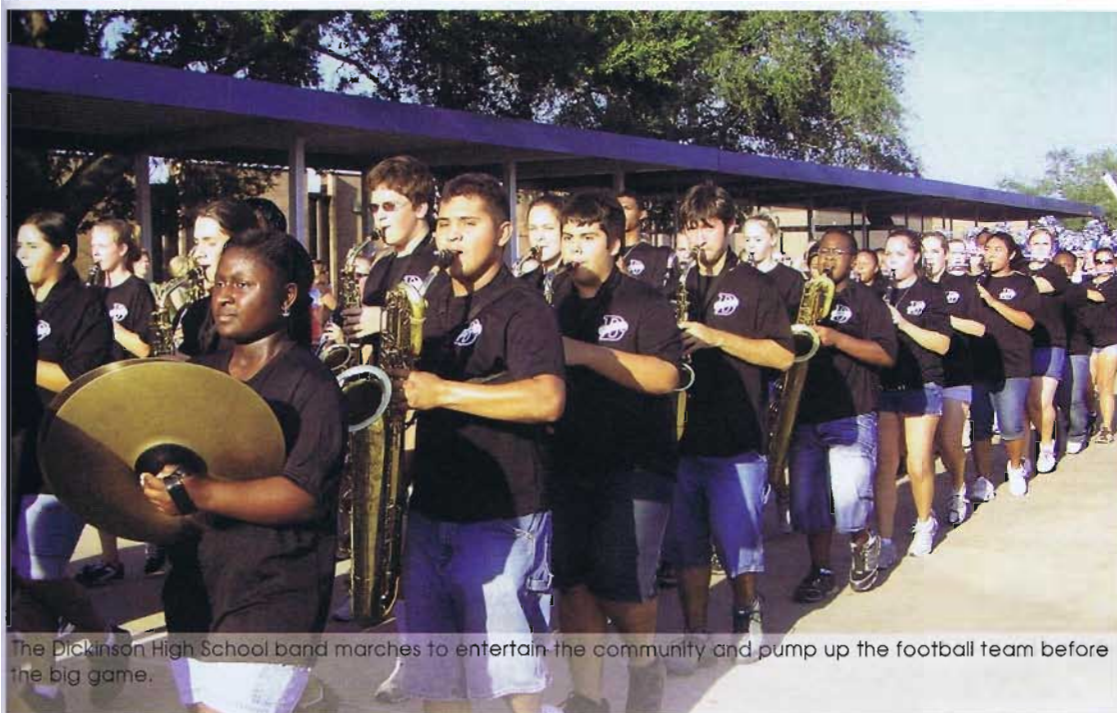

Dr. and Mrs. Leland Williams enjoy themselves at the homecoming parade.

Chris Laws, Riley Crowder and Jennifer Doda are front and center for the pep rally.

Mr. Hughes and Mr. Rodríguez casually monitor the bus pick-up circle as they sport their favorite teams jerseys on Jersey day.

The Dickinson High School band marches to entertain the community and pump up the football team before the big game.

Senior Chris Meyers points and laughs hysterically as contenders attempt to pulverize a car during the homecoming carnival.

A very spirited fan displays his pride for his school colors.

Wigged mystery man displays his Gator pride.

Strolling along in the homecoming parade, members of cosmetology Katy Watz, Diana Arnaya, Bich Le, Gina Herrera, Jessica Hood, Kayla Medina and Krystal Millard display their SUPERcute style.

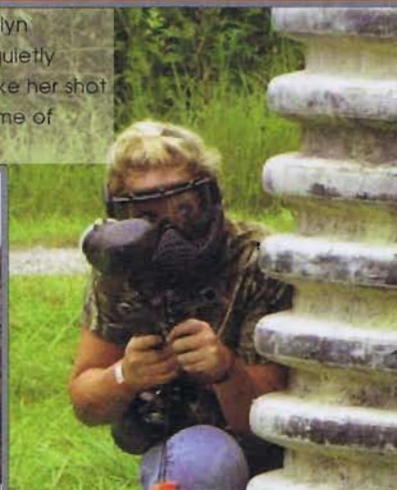

Taylor Ballew and Clay Harkey (former student) tube on the Dickinson Bayou. Tubular!

Extreme Fun

Students spend their free time taking risks and getting into action.

Living in Dickinson, Texas can sometimes get a little boring. Going to the mall or the movies every weekend can non-stimulating. These students opt to experience a more adventurous and dangerous pastime.

Junior Catelyn Honeycutt quietly waits to make her shot during a game of paintball.

Dirtbiker Matt Cheetam doesn't seem to mind a little mud.

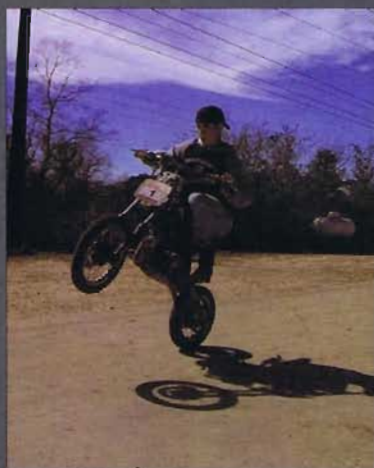

Future motocross star, Jeremy Barron powerslides in his leisure time.

I went to downtown Houston with a bunch of my friends and I tried to front feeble this big rail there. I flipped backwards and landed on my arm and broke my arm pretty bad.

- Michael Reagan

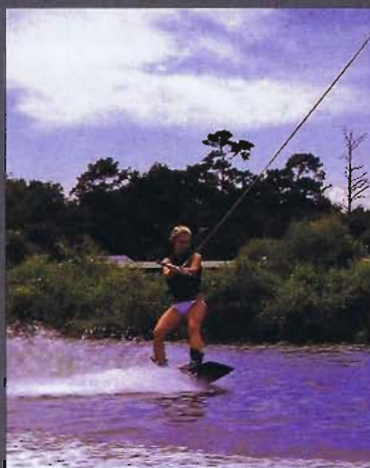

→ ON THE JAGGED EDGE

Sophomore Garrett Reagan pops a wheelie on his dirt bike, showing off his mad skills.

Junior Aaron "Lunchbox" Hodgkin takes a breather after shredding all day on his sk8board.

Senior Desiree Swauger wakeboards in the Dickinson Bayou over summer break.

UNDISCOVERED

"Dickinson has talent" seems to be a common theme this year. The annual talent show proved to be not only entertaining but very impressive.

Musical skills some of DHS students possess have never been so brilliantly displayed. Piano keys, guitar riffs, drums solos, and sassy dance steps all left the audience pleasantly surprised. The $8 entrance fee was well deserved after

In the end, it was Richard Ma's smooth voice and placid guitar melodies that won the audience's vote.

A: I thought it would be a lot of fun."

Eric Alvarado

Q: What did you think about the crowd's attitude and energy that night?

A: Most of the crowd had high energy although there were some exceptions."

BIG spenders

In order to cover their needs and wants, students join the American work force.

Some people call it "hustlin'", others refer to it as "on the grind", or "J-O-B" but we all know what we get out of all of them: money! As up-and-coming business professionals in the world, it is very important to learn the trades and skills that will get us out of the classrooms and into the fast-paced society. Car accessories, clothes, cell phones, movie tickets, and other luxury items all come out of our own (well earned) paychecks.

LOUD

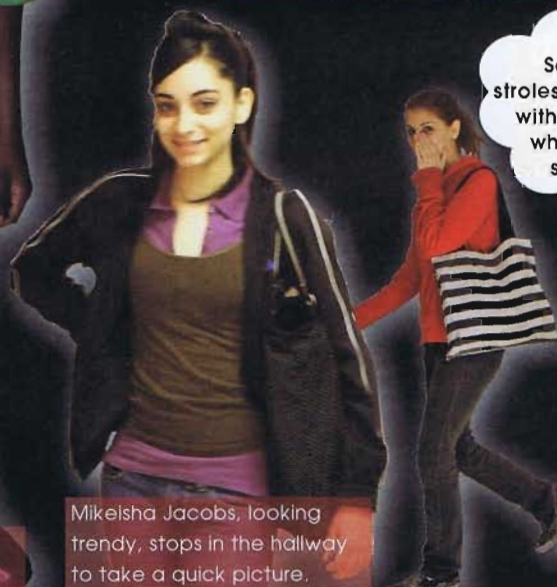

Ricky Williams, Thi Nguyen, Lachandra Johnson, and Halley Anderson express their own sense of fashion on senior dress up day.

Ricky Gaines sports his own fly style.

Frank Farmilette sports an intricate pattern on his sweatshirt

DHS fashion is very diverse. Many different groups here at DHS bring back old styles and make them new again, anywhere from hair, shoes, make up or even backpacks. You may think that you would see your younger sibling carrying a backpack that display characters like, Dora the Explorer, Sponge bob, and Tinkerbelle, but this year they were even popular among high school students. Students have taken inspiration from the 80s and have begun wearing bright color pumps, eye catching clothes, and sometimes even snazzy leg warmers.

Natural beauty has been enhanced, and all colors of the rainbow are now showing up on people's faces. Vibrant colors along with glittering metallics are among the picks of the season.

Students have now figured out how to dress up the dress code. It's not just the normal polo anymore; students are now adding matching jewelry, and fancy handbags.

Seniors Taylor Martinez and Kristen Thomason show off their style on senior dress up day. Smiling shows their excitement to be dressed so cute.

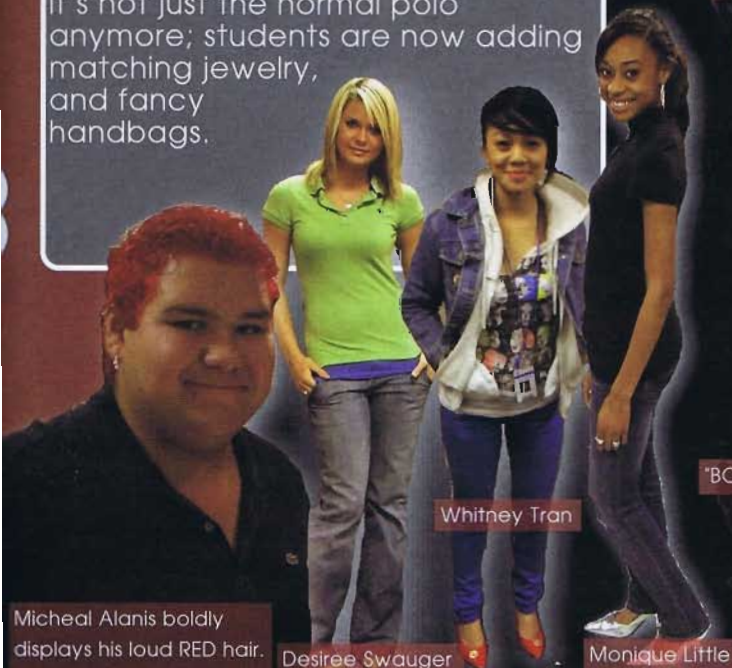

Hailey Anderson shows her creative side with a fierce look

Mrs. Zachariades blocks the sun from her eyes with her super cute shades.

Niki Mahachek and Lindsey Gallan show their unique vintage style.

With celebrity images plastered all over our televisions and magazines, it is only natural that we get our inspiration from these familiar faces. Sometimes, just by fluke, we end up looking like stars we never intended to. For the lucky ones, this can make us stand out in a crowd.

COLLEGIATE HIGH SCHOOL

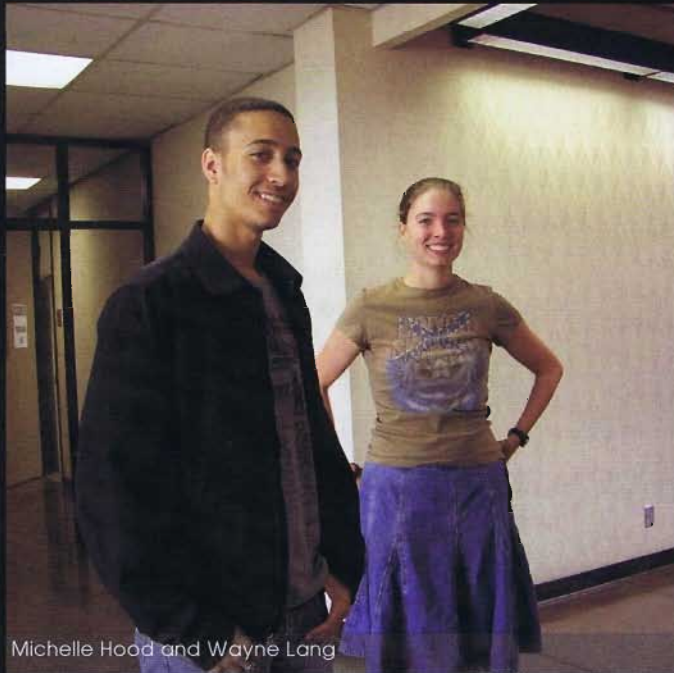

Meet The Group

Some of us are oblivious to this incredible program's existence. What exactly is Collegiate High school? To put it in simplest form: high school students take college level classes at COM to earn college hours and high school credits at the same time. It's a smart way to get ahead in the game.

In the life of a Collegiate High school student, everything is different from the average DHS student.

All classes are taken at College of the Mainland and most of these students rarely see the high school building. However, most of the collegiate students are more than willing to give up the customary high school life for the life of a driven college student. Kudos to all of them.

01 The new addition to the SWAMP.

Dickinson high school gave birth to its beautiful baby this year; an amazing football stadium!

02 helping the community

Organizations such as PALs and NHS dedicated their time to making the community a better place by playing their part in helping society.

03 teachers care

Teachers at DHS spend countless hours teaching us not only the curriculum but also important life lessons.

04 new kids on the block

Did anyone else notice the increase of students in the halls? It seems like everyone wanted a piece of DHS. The more the merrier!

05 AcaDeca goes to state

This group proved that Dickinson's students are among the best and the smartest in the state.

06 uniqueness prevails

From clothes to hairstyles, Dickinson students expressed their own sense of style in the hallways.

07 all we need is love

What would high school be without a little T.L.C.? But please folks watch the P.D.A.

08 the friends list keeps growing

Buddy, pal, homie; this year was full of ways to address the people you trust the most.

09 taking the next step

Several DHS athletes inked deals with colleges to continue playing sports in college.

Community Shows Character

Homecoming expanded for the 2007-2008 school year. We've started a new tradition by hosting an annual Homecoming Carnival. The parade was also held around the school and ended up going very smoothly. There were various activities such as smashing a car, ring toss, and guitar hero. With the parade and the carnival being held at the same spot, the community had a great opportunity to come together, have fun, and cheer on our boys on their way to victory.

Brody Trahan and Ana De La Cruz take a ride in a Model T Ford represent the junior class court during homecoming parade.

Sadie Giamfortone, class of 1941, former homecoming queen, rides in the parade as an honorary guest.

San Leon Elementary students and teachers enjoy the ride in the hot sun.

Aaron "Lunchbox" Hodgins and Daniel Finney, both juniors, rock out during the guitar hero tournament.

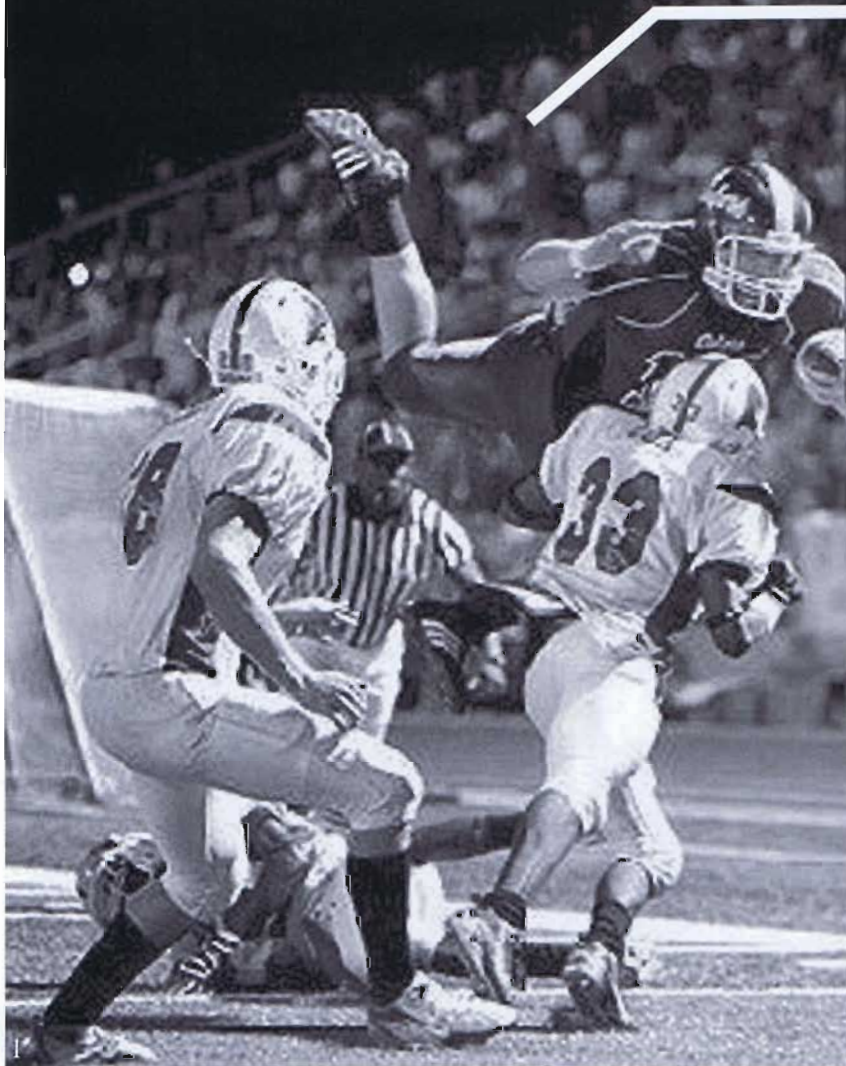

The Dickinson Diamonds march in the parade to the beat of the spirited drumline.

Football player Darius Dickerson dances on the JV football float.

Homecoming Game

The Dickinson Gators took the Sam Vitanza Stadium field for the first time since the start of the season. Though quarterback, Brody Trahan, was injured midgame, the Gators pulled through for a heartfelt win, with a final score of 28 - 7.

The Varsity football players join together on the field as a team everytime they hit the turf. Their hardwork reflects this year's victorious season.

Melody Johnson and Allison Fisher enjoy dancing together.

Ashley Deitz lovingly glances up at her date requesting a dance.

Michael Hernandez and date Amy Chandler take a breather from the lively homecoming dance floor.

Shawn Foster looks around for a potential partner before he starts to dance.

The Diamonds hosted the second annual Homecoming Dance this year. Dj Cool-Aid from party 93.3 got the guests pumped and ready to party. The tickets were sold to raise money for the Diamonds' trip to Orlando, Florida during spring break. The dance was a great success overall and a very enjoyable event.

SENIOR BREAKFAST

Even though it's the end of the year, seniors at DHS gather together at senior breakfast to talk about the finale of a huge chapter in their lives. Other than the yummy food, important events such as graduation and project grad are discussed. This event takes place in the cafeteria and is catered with hard work and delicious food. Items on the menu are things such as variety of fruits, sausage, biscuits, eggs, and juice. This event brings seniors one step closer to the end of their high school lives.
